

Non-Functional Requirements

- Modular architecture - complex processes and features break into simpler components. By using this approach, the team can analyze each part of the project while capturing the full project picture.
- Response time < 1s
- Cloud native solution - run as a executable jar(small size), no application server needed
- Users must change the initially assigned login password immediately after the first successful login.
- Well formed error messages (great user experience)
